

Menu of Fees and Charges – Wealth Advice

This menu is for pension and investment advice and the related services.

Your adviser will explain the stages, the expected charges and when they become payable before starting any work.

Initial Consultation

At our cost.

Initial Advice – New client or new product - lump sum

There are two ways you can pay for your initial advice fees. This is either by

- a % of your amount invested, or
- at an hourly rate.

By a percentage %

Where our advice includes a new investment product, our charges can be calculated from the charging structure below.

These fees can be deducted from the product or paid direct to Openwork Ltd

3% of the first £200,000

2% of sums between £200,001 and £500,000

1% of sums between £500,001 and £1,000,000

By an hourly rate £

Where our advice does not result in a product recommendation, or at your choice, we will charge at an hourly rate.

These fees can be deducted from the product (if a product is recommended) or paid direct to Openwork Ltd

Hourly charge for advice £400

Hourly charge for administration activities £175

An estimation of the work involved will be provided before any work commences

An example of an advice charge

If you invested £100,000 your initial charge would be calculated to be £3,000

An example of an advice charge

If the advice process took 6 hours of a financial advisers time and 4 hours of administration, your initial charge would be calculated to be £3,100

An example of a staged charge

If the understanding and analysis work took 2 hours of a financial adviser's time and 4 hours of administration, the charge would be £1,500

This could be in addition to, or form part of, the advice and implementation fee.

An example of a staged charge where the advice does not proceed

You agreed a % charge for the implementation of the advice, but choose not to proceed.

Up to this point the work took 1 hour of a financial adviser's time and 4 hours of administration, the charge would be £1,100

Initial Advice – New client - regular contribution investment product

Where our advice results in a recommendation to make regular contributions to a new investment, our fee is calculated on the total expected contributions for the first 60 months using the percentage charge above.

An example of a regular premium charge

If you invested £100 per month, the agreed charge would be 3% of the first 60 months contributions.
